Almost every pay day, an error is made on somebody’s time...either the comp hours are incorrect, hours reported to us are incorrect or some type of pay has been added that shouldn’t have been or less hours have been reported that was on the individual time sheet. So I wanted to take a minute to explain how payroll is processed. At the end of each pay period a master time sheet with all the employees in each department listed on it is sent to the person in your department who is responsible for turning in your time to Finance. You complete your time sheets, turn them in to your department’s payroll person and then they record the hours for each employee in that department on the master time sheet for that department. Those master time sheets are then returned to Finance for processing, along with the individual time sheets—usually sometime on Monday morning of payroll week. Finance enters time from that master time sheet, so if your time has been recorded incorrectly, we don’t have any way of knowing that until it’s too late. We don’t look at each individual time sheet until after payroll is processed and sent to the bank and then we’re checking to make sure your time sheet is signed and that a supervisor has signed off on it—not to make sure your hours have been recorded on the master sheet correctly.

When we have payroll entry done and have proofread the payroll journal against the master time sheets, any errors we have made during data entry are corrected and then the payroll file is run and employee totals are updated. When you get your direct deposit notice, payroll has already been finalized and it is too late to make any corrections at that point. We pay between 375 and 400 employees each pay period, and the file with the entire County’s direct deposit information is uploaded to the bank either late Monday afternoon or Tuesday morning. So if an error is made on your pay, we will correct the error the following pay day. There are about 12 steps that we have to do to process a payroll and all those steps have to be done whether it’s for the entire county or for just one employee. If we have made an egregious error that results in your pay being a large amount short (at least $100 short) that we failed to catch while proofreading, we will sometimes cut an advance through accounts payable that has to be deducted from your next pay, but we don’t re-run payroll. And if a mistake has been made that results in your being paid too much, we also correct that the following pay day. If you have been overpaid one pay period, with the correction the following one, your pay between the next pay will be close to what it would have been had an error not been made. So if you are ever overpaid, you will need to hang on to the overpayment because your next pay will be short by that amount.

We try to not make mistakes which is why we still proof each employee’s time individually...not just the department totals. And the people in the departments who do your payroll don’t make mistakes on purpose either, it’s just that we are all subject to that human condition of making mistakes. So, I apologize now if you are ever one whose pay has been entered incorrectly. I promise that we will correct it. Thank you for your patience and understanding.

Earthquake Safety Tips

An earthquake is a sudden, rapid shaking of the ground caused by the shifting of rocks deep underneath the earth’s surface. Earthquakes can happen without warning and can result in injuries and damage to property and roads. Earthquakes can cause fires, tsunamis, landslides or avalanches. While they can happen anywhere, areas at higher risk for earthquakes include California, Oregon, Washington, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Mississippi Valley.

If an earthquake happens, protect yourself right away.

- If you are in a car, pull over and stop. Set your parking brake.
- If you are in bed, turn face down and cover your head and neck with a pillow.
- If you are outdoors, stay outdoors away from buildings.
- Do not get in a doorway.
- Do not run outside.

Stay Safe During an Earthquake: Drop, Cover, and Hold On

Drop: Wherever you are, drop down on to your hands and knees. If you’re using a wheelchair or walker with a seat, make sure your wheels are locked and remain seated until the shaking stops.

Cover: Cover your head and neck with your arms. If a sturdy table or desk is nearby, crawl underneath it for shelter. If no shelter is nearby, crawl next to an interior wall (away from windows). Crawl only if you can reach better cover without going through an area with more debris. Stay on your knees or bent over to protect vital organs.

Hold on: If you are under a table or desk, hold on with one hand and be ready to move with it if it moves. If seated and unable to drop to the floor, bend forward, cover your head with your arms and hold on to your neck with both hands.

Prepare Before an Earthquake

The best time to prepare for any disaster is before it happens.

- Practice Drop, Cover, and Hold On with family and coworkers.
- Secure heavy items in your home like bookcases, refrigerators, televisions and objects that hang on walls. Store heavy and breakable objects on low shelves.
- Create a family emergency communications plan that has an out-of-state contact. Plan where to meet if you get separated.
- Make a supply kit that includes enough food and water for at least three days, a flashlight, a fire extinguisher and a whistle.
- Consider obtaining an earthquake insurance policy. A standard homeowner’s insurance policy does not cover earthquake damage.
- Consider making improvements to your building to fix structural issues that could cause your building to collapse during an earthquake.

Stay Safe After an Earthquake

If an earthquake has just happened, there can be serious hazards such as damage to the building, leaking gas and water lines, or downed power lines.

- Expect aftershocks to follow the main shock of an earthquake.
- Check yourself to see if you are hurt and help others if you have training. Learn how to be the help until help arrives.
- If you are in a damaged building, go outside and quickly move away from the building. Do not enter damaged buildings.
- If you are trapped, protect your mouth, nose and eyes from dust. Send a text, bang on a pipe or wall or use a whistle instead of shouting to help rescuers locate you.
- If you are in an area that may experience tsunamis, go inland or to higher ground immediately after the shaking stops.
- Text messages may be more reliable than phone calls.
- Once you are safe, listen to local news reports for emergency information and instructions via battery-operated radio, TV, social media or from cell phone text alerts.
- Be careful during post-disaster cleanup of buildings and around debris. Do not attempt to remove heavy debris by yourself. Wear protective clothing, including a long-sleeved shirt, long pants, work gloves and sturdy, thick-soled shoes during cleanup.
